

SUPPORT SYSTEMS

As the frontier of technology continues to accelerate through-out the world, the choice for American business is clear: adapt or fall back.

In law, it is no longer enough merely to stay abreast of reported decisions and current statutes. To stay competitive today, attorneys must be backed up by the very latest in communications equipment.

That's why at Hack Piro our support systems are always high priority, always abreast of - often ahead of - the cutting edge of computer technology. Thus, our clients are provided with not only the very best attorney expertise, but also the very latest up-to-date hardware/software capability.

Our office systems and personnel are under the direct supervision of our Administrator, Elaine DeNoon, who insures smooth operations in each area of practice for our attorneys. She manages our staff of employees, including secretaries, paralegals, and clerks, and she oversees our bookkeeping, billing and calendar departments.
